

Regulations for

The International Competition of Knowledge about the Antiquity

§1

1. The competition is held as a part of the project “We are all Children of the Ancient Greeks and Romans”, which is subsidized by the European Union within Erasmus+ program.
2. The organizers of the competition at the national levels are all the participating schools: Istituto Comprensivi Assisi 2 (Italy), Istituto Comprensivi Assisi 3 (Italy), Instituto de Education Secundaria Les Costa Del Sol Terremolinos (Spain) , and Społeczne Gimnazjum “Dębinka” in Poznan, Poland.
3. The coordinator and organizer of the competition at the international level is Comprensivi Assisi 2 (Italy).

§2

The aims of the competition:

1. Raising the students’ interest of the history and culture of the ancient Greece and Rome, which is one of the cradles of the European Civilization.
2. Popularizing among the youth the subject and knowledge about the Greek and Roman antiquity.
3. Improving individual students’ skills and diversifying the forms of cooperation with a talented student.
4. Extending the curriculum with the knowledge going beyond the core curriculum mainly as far as the connections of the antiquity with the contemporary are concerned (science, politics, law, philosophy, ethics).
5. Looking for the elements of the ancient cultural heritage in European culture.
6. Testing the level of knowledge about the antiquity and its heritage, which is going to help in planning further activities within the project.

§3

1. The competition is dedicated to the partner schools’ students taking part in the project “We are all Children of the Ancient Greeks and Romans”. As a part of disseminating of the good practice and the idea of the project, other students can be also invited to take part in the competition.
2. The participants of the competition should be 10-16 years old. The schools decide individually about the qualifications for the competition.
3. The subjects of the competition comprise the history of Ancient Greece and Rome and their culture in the following fields: literature, philosophy,, science, religion, architecture, art, army, everyday life.

§4

1. The competition is held on two levels:
 - school level, organized by the schools involved in the project or invited by them
 - final, international level, organized by Comprensivi Assisi 2 (Italy).
2. In the school level can take part all students, however, in the final round only the schools' delegates directly involved into Erasmus+ project, whose parents gave the permission for their children's participation and their trip abroad.
3. The tasks for the competition are prepared by the teachers from schools involved in the project.

§5

1. The prize at the school level is the possibility of participating in the final round in Italy.
2. There is a possibility of awarding the students, who got the best scores at the school level but cannot participate in the final round. It is up to the organizers of the school competition to decide about such cases.
3. The title of the laureate of the competition goes to all the students, who've achieved the highest scores. All the others get the title of the finalist.
4. The students with the highest scores get the awards.
5. The diplomas and prizes will be awarded during the ceremony summing up the competition in Assisi, Italy.

§6

1. At the school level both the participants and their parents have the right to look at the already marked tests, within two days from the announcement of the results, in the place and at the time specified by the chairmen of the competition committee.
2. At the final level the participants or their representatives have the right to object to the results only during the final round.
3. All the objections raised after that time will not be taken into the consideration.
4. All the decisions in the contentious issues will be taken by the school coordinator, and at the international level, by the representatives of schools participating in the project (the team of one teacher from each school).

§7

Timetable:

School level in Poland: 25th November 2016

International final level : February 2016, during the international meeting in Italy.